We love babies, but we will ask you to sit with them in the back (not up by the microphones) and if they are noisy or disruptive, we will ask you to step outside with your baby. If the session recording is available after the conference, we will give you that session at no charge. If it is not available for some reason we will give you another of your choice.

Conference registration conveys permission for The Trust Birth Conference to take and publish pictures of conference attendees.
